

HOCKEY HALL OF FAME KICKS OFF SUMMER WITH TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS CENTENNIAL EXHIBIT

Limited-time exhibit features tributes honouring 100 seasons of the Toronto Maple Leaf franchise through elaborate showcases and dynamic multimedia displays

TORONTO (July 7, 2016) – With 67 Players and 12 Builders, Toronto’s franchise in the NHL boasts the most Honoured Members inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame. Beginning in 1917 as the Arenas, becoming the St. Patricks in 1922 and then the Maple Leafs in 1927, the Toronto Maple Leaf Centennial exhibit pays homage to those that have worn the blue and white as well as some highlights of the most iconic moments in franchise history.

Featured items in the exhibit include Bill Barilko’s 1951 Stanley Cup winning overtime stick and puck used to score his last goal, skates worn by Johnny Bower circa 1960, the million dollar cheque from the Chicago Black Hawks for Frank Mahovlich, dated October 6, 1962 (that went uncashed), George Armstrong’s sweater from the 1967 Stanley Cup championship, Mats Sundin’s jersey from the final game played at Maple Leaf Gardens and much more spanning from Conn Smythe to current day. The exhibit celebrates those that helped make Smythe’s ambitions a reality, while reflecting on moments of wonder and heartache that shaped the club, its fans and the city it calls home.

“When Toronto’s NHL franchise took to the ice at Arena Gardens in late 1917, no one could have imagined this would become one of hockey’s most storied and recognized teams” said Ron Ellis of the Hockey Hall of Fame, and former Toronto Maple Leaf from 1964-1980. “The Toronto Maple Leafs Centennial exhibit showcases how the franchise has remained iconic through the last century, with names like Bower, Sittler, Gilmour, Sundin and so many more who have inspired generations of fans as Leafs Nation faithful.”

In further recognition of the Centennial celebrations, the annual Hagggar Hockey Hall of Fame Legends Classic will feature Leaf great, Borje Salming (HHOF 1996) leading a team of Toronto Maple Leaf legends against a line-up of NHL superstars captained by Eric Lindros (HHOF 2016). The game will be played on Sunday, November 13, 2016, 3:00 PM at the Air Canada Centre, Toronto. Tickets go on sale July 14, 2016.

The 2016 Induction Celebration will be held on Monday, November 14th at the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. For more information regarding the 2016 Induction Weekend/Celebration, visit <http://www.hhof.com>.
